

OTR-2023SEP29

Fri, Sep 29, 2023 12:00PM 9:44

SUMMARY KEYWORDS

toronto, metropolitan university, canadian, record, hosted, day, event, high, attended, arrested, tickets, year, tarik, entertainment, alumni, game, ticketmaster, part, university, basic living expenses

---

00:12

Good morning. Thanks for joining us today. I'm Tarik to Han and I'm Maria Robinson. Here's some of the stories we're following for you this morning from the On The Record newsroom.

00:17

00:25

TMU's, celebrating the second annual National Day for truth and reconciliation. The day is tomorrow but the university is marking the day today with a handful of events. Toronto metropolitan university adopted its current university name in April of last year from its previous name, Ryerson University. its namesake Egerton, Ryerson was an architect of the residential schooling system and part of the university's standing strong Task Force. His recommendation was to rename the school as part of the second annual they recognized nationally tomorrow. The university is offering experiences for students to learn better about indigenous culture, as well as ceremony from nine to 4pm at SLC an update to the story we first brought to you on our website. Toronto Police arrested an individual allegedly walking around with an axe along Gerrard Street Monday. The man in his 30s was arrested near Dundas and Victoria streets and is now in custody. TMU's students were advised to avoid the area through an alert from the school safety app TMU's state and police instructed all individuals to evacuate the building. A day before his arrest. Police warn Tmu officials that an armed and dangerous man was in the area.

01:10

01:44

That Eaton center will host its third annual job fair this Thursday with dozens of participating retailers in fashion cosmetics and tech stores taking part of the job fair include Abercrombie and Fitch, Michael Kors, footlocker Gamestop call it spring and MAC cosmetics, among others. Retailers will have dedicated tables to set up across the event space, which will be for in front of Eaton centers Dundas Street entrance next to unique low, attendees will have the chance to drop off their resumes directly at the vendors table, as well as hiring network with as well as network with hiring staff.

02:25

That's third event celebrating the two s LGBTQ plus community happened near Toronto metropolitan university this Wednesday. It was an opportunity to engage and establish relationships with alumni from the two s LGBTQ plus community, allies and friends on the records Mackenzie rubella was there and filed this.

02:49

Out at Constantine is an LGBTQ s plus community event dedicated to Toronto Metropolitan University, alumni and staff.

03:04

The event is hosted by the alumni office in the positive space faculty and staff network.

03:14

From trans history, to sports media to design to HIV AIDS research. If you are here and doing work in this space, can you please raise your hands? Please raise your hand.

03:29

What a great turnout. interior designs were led by TMU's Alumni Achievement Award recipient and designer Alessandra Munch a studio Munch.

03:38

Congratulations to all involved. In sports the Canadian Women's Soccer team secured their spots in the Olympics earlier this week. Canada one to one against Jamaica at BMO field this Tuesday, also earning them a new record playing in front of over 29,000 people. It was the highest attended national team game in Ontario. The team will be headed to Paris 2024 to defend their title as reigning Olympic champions.

04:09

The 2023 International live journalism festival was hosted at TMU's this Thursday and Friday. It brought together journalists and storytellers from across the world. On The Record, Kayla Fontaine attended the opening event on Thursday morning.

04:26

The second ever international live journalism Festival kicked off at Toronto Metropolitan University on Thursday and wraps up on Friday. The opening event was against the current. The show was a reimagining of a 2015 large scale collaboration between Japanese Canadian and Indigenous artists in Vancouver's Downtown Eastside. It featured Rosemary Giorgio and as a storyteller, who told the audience about a shared history of fishing and swimming upstream. She was joined by Creative Director John endo Greenway and Toronto based Tiger Artists, Kiyoshi Niigata. The original show has 50 performers and an indigenous singing group. The performers use beads of a drum and other instruments to tell stories that were illustrated on a slideshow. Last year, the live journalism festival was hosted in Finland. The event brought together journalists from all over the world to put on shows and engage in discussions on live journalism. For On The Record, I'm Kaila Vontae.

05:29

A new $100,000 grants has been introduced to my Toronto metropolitan university and Brampton immigration consultancy to support international students to international students per year will be awarded $10,000 each. This program will run for five years for a total of $100,000. With rents and basic living expenses, increasing the BAC wanted to create a grant that enabled students to focus on their studies. Applications for this grant will be open from October 1 to 31st.

06:04

One lucky Canadian will win $68 million playing lotto 649 this week. Typically the chances of winning the classic draw are about one and 14 million. But the gold ball jackpot is different. The odds of winning depend on how many tickets sell, but one thing is for sure the gold ball guarantees a winner making someone an instant multimillionaire.

06:29

Lots going on in entertainment this week with some big headlines including the cancellation of an iconic Canadian newsmagazine. Here's drew any Glennie for more.

06:40

This week Live Nation entertainment partnered with singer Willie Nelson for the on the road again program. This program eliminates live nation's cut of merchandise sales at the club level as well as giving talent a $1,500 stipend per show participating venues in Toronto our history the Opera House, the Velvet Underground and the Danforth Music Hall. Live Nation subsidiary Ticketmaster has also created an initiative to curb its own controversial practices. For Olivia Rodriguez upcoming guts tour. Tickets will only be available 72 hours in advance in hopes of curbing scalping. Meanwhile, in the United States, the IRS is cracking down on scalpers by implementing a new law taxing anyone who makes over $600 on reselling tickets, one of the linchpins of the Ticketmaster backlash, Taylor Swift is using her break from touring to watch her rumored no both NFL game. Swift attended the Kansas City Chiefs game against the Chicago Bears on September 24, and was seen leaving with tight end Travis Kelce. The parent attended a private party hosted by Kelsey at the prime social rooftop along with his family and teammates, and Canadian news. Entertainment Tonight, Canada announced on Wednesday that they are seizing their broadcast after 18 years, citing the cost of producing a daily entertainment news magazine show in a challenging advertising environment. Be sure to tune in to On The Record News to get your entertainment fix.

 07:58

As we head into the weekend, we can expect for temperatures to dip before it gets warmer again. But luckily things will stay pretty sunny for the GTA with more on this weekend's forecast. Here's Angie calles.

 08:12

Thank you and good morning everyone. This is On The Record weather. Let's take a look at the highs of today shall we? Toronto sitting at a high of 18 today making it the perfect day for a walk in the park while having a light breeze around till sunset. That being said, nearby cities Brampton, Mississauga, Hamilton and St Catharines have a slightly cooler high of 17 while Peterborough and berry have a high of 15. Now, on to the four five day forecast of this week. As you can see for this weekend, we'll be experiencing the low of 14 at night. That feels like 11 degrees. However, for all the fall and warm weather lovers out there, I have some good news for you. as the week progresses, our days will be getting slightly warmer with the highs of 26 and 27. For Monday through Wednesday. Enjoy the weather this week. It's going to be a sunny one. I'm Angelica last for On The Record news. Back to you Tarik and March.

 09:15

That's all for On The Record this Friday, September 29. I'm Todd Kahan. And I'm Maria Robinson. Join us next week as we round up the latest stories for the latest 24/7 visits On The Record. news.ca

 09:27

From all of us here AT On The Record. Have a great day.